

Made in Scotland. At home in a Manhattan.
Lower East Side mixes effortlessly, wherever it finds itself.

Single Malt whiskies from across Scotland, brought together and blended by the whisky-makers at The Borders Distillery.

Matured in American Oak casks, the whisky has vanilla, almond, and honey notes, with just a hint of smoke.

Bold but balanced, Lower East Side is a great whisky for mixing – not so powerfully smoky it swamps the rest of the drink, nor so subtle that it disappears into whatever you've mixed it with.

Tasting Notes

Single Malts from across Scotland, expertly blended by the whisky-makers at The Borders Distillery

Bold but balanced, Lower East Side is a great whisky for mixing – not so powerfully smoky it swamps the rest of the drink, nor so subtle that it disappears into whatever you've mixed it with.

Lower East Side has rich notes of vanilla, almond, and honey. These can work well when balanced with bitter notes or paired with herbal flavours

Lower East Side's light smoky note complements fruit flavours such as apple, pear, or pineapple
